Government of India declared in 1987 the 28th February as National Science Day to remember with reverence the great discovery of the Raman Effect after the name of Sir C V Raman who was awarded the Nobel Prize in Physics in the year 1930.

Science works for the Benefit of Mankind. Scientific knowledge has led to remarkable innovations that have been of great benefit to the sustainability of the society. Most of the benefits of science are haphazardly distributed although Science does not work for 'Rich' or 'Poor'; Science for all; Science for Self-reliance; Science travels from 'Truth' to 'More Truth' not from 'False' to 'Truth'.

The Indian Chemical Society, one of the oldest societies founded by Acharya P. C. Ray as the First President along with J. C. Ghosh, J. N. Mukherjee, S. S. Bhatnagar and others in 1924 is going to celebrate National Science Day-2023 on 27th February (Monday), 2023 at the N R Sen Auditorium, University of Calcutta, 92, A P C Road, Kolkata - 700 009 at 12.00 hours.

This program will be inaugurated by Prof. G. D. Yadav, President, Indian Chemical Society. The Special Address will be delivered by Prof. Deb Shankar Ray, IACS, Kolkata, Prof. D. C. Mukherjee will introduce the importance of Science Day. Other Invited Speakers are Prof. Srabanti Basu, Heritage Institute of Technology, Kolkata and Prof. Achintya Singha, Department of Physics, Bose Institute, Kolkata.
